

5 good reasons to specify
Great British Timber from Ransfords.

www.ransfords.co.uk

1

Our timber is grown in Britain and milled in Britain.

2

British Forests are responsibly managed on a sustainable and ethical basis to ensure constant renewal.

3 British Timber hasn't been shipped halfway round the planet.

4

Forestry and sawmilling are part of who we are.

Great British Timber is the result of a constant international collaboration which adds real value for customers.

Every cubic metre of timber we process at Ransfords is sourced from fully sustainable British forests.

Of course, we harness engineering and science expertise from around the world in our milling line, our treatment plant, and in the vast array of solar panels which make a huge contribution to reducing our energy costs.

It all combines to make us one of the most efficient sawmills in the UK. We know it's good for our business - and that it will certainly be good for yours.

We're proud to be working in partnership with Grown in Britain

Grown in Britain is bringing together people and businesses who care about the long term future of British forestry.

The stated aim is to transform the forestry sector, growing our woodlands and forests, and bringing about sustainable change that benefits wildlife, the public and the economy. Grown in Britain and its partners are already making a difference.

The Grown in Britain Licensing Scheme gives woodland owners, suppliers, retailers, the construction industry and consumers assurance their timber, or timber products, come from Britain. Getting licensed is simple, quick, and anyone in the supply chain can apply.
